The Italian
Adventure

A discovery for executive women who have seen it all

6, 7 & 8 – June 2024, Airole, Liguria, Italy

The Italian
Adventure

Seen Everything?

At a certain point in your career your appetite for “learning about leadership” fades and you find yourself no longer enrolling for another course showcasing a new method.

The Italian Adventure

This phase in personal leadership development signals that it is time to harvest experience and to discover that you already know all you need to know. Yet, naturally, the jewels of your years of practicing leadership are not always on the forefront of your consciousness and perhaps not even consciously formulated. What then?

To find out we set course on Italy, the land of passion, sine qua non, where answers to the implicit question, “What truly ignites my soul?” lure. This adventure is an invitation to step past stagnation and instead find out about the true value of your knowledge and experience – for yourself, for the organization and for the larger whole.

In encounters with Italian businesswomen you will gain valuable insights about the assets you have created as well as inspiration to free up further personal resources. Think for instance of communication. Italian professional women communicate expressively and passionately, yet poised and often subtly, exuding self-confidence.

The Italian Adventure

Through reflecting upon their style you understand your own communication approach, similarities, and differences in a different light.

Perhaps you ask yourself, at the backdrop of the Italian reverence for beauty and the power of indirect interventions to achieve desired results – how do I really nurture myself?

Your personal narrative, myth if you like, tells you, and us all, about you. But what if you could imagine it anew? What discovery is awaiting you?

Playful creativity enables you to fantasize about the future, to visualize something that does not exist and change your self-perception with it. Creativity is also what brings you close to your essence and to awareness of your own intact wisdom.

The adventure of you evolves inspired by imagined and historical women, as captured by the pen of internationally renowned author Rosita Steenbeek.

The Italian
Adventure

The stage is set for an unforgettable experience where playful creativity inspires and nourishes your soul against the backdrop and splendor of the Italian Riviera.

I will hold the space for creativity to freely flow while encouraging your natural self-confidence and spontaneous expressions, enabling you to generate innovative ideas and solutions.

The stage is set for an unforgettable experience nourishing your soul against the backdrop and splendor of the Italian Riviera.
